BEACH TREASURES (OPTELGOED)

Music: Marie Tredoux

Lyrics: Nic Tredoux

English translation: Nanette Tredoux

My heart lies in a little sea urchin
 Washed up on the sand
 My sadness lies in a little abalone shell
 Tossed out on the sand
 But I know you will pick it up
 Yes, I know you will pick it up

My passion lies in a little mussel
 Pushed up above the waterside
 My love lies in a small sea bamboo
 At the lonely edge of the dune
 But I know you will pick it up
 Yes, I know you will pick it up
 I know you will pick it up
 You don't ignore precious beach treasures

Hold your shell against your ear
 And then listen to me
 I play you a melancholy tune
 On my flute made of sea bamboo
 I play you a melancholy tune
 On my flute made of sea bamboo

Interlude

Hold your shell against your ear
 And then listen to me
 I play you a melancholy tune
 On my flute made of sea bamboo
 Because my love comes from deep, deep
 From the heart of my sea bamboo
 Yes, my love comes from deep, deep, deep
 From the heart of my sea bamboo
